DeVries CPAs of Arizona PC Selected as One of The Most Dependable™ Accounting Professionals of the West.

Tucson, AZ, April, 18, 2008: A Tucson accounting firm, DeVries CPAs of Arizona PC has been named as one of the Most Dependable™ Accounting Professionals of the West in a list published in the March 24th issue of Forbes Magazine. "We are pleased to include DeVries CPAs of Arizona PC on our list," said Ryan Kluff, Publisher of Goldline Research, who made the selections for the list. "They exceeded all our industry criteria and had outstanding client references."

Mari DeVries, CPA and Managing Partner at the Firm, stated: "It was an honor for us just to be nominated for this list, but we know that our clients' comments about our work were the reason we were selected as one of the top ten firms. We are so grateful to know that our wonderful clients value their association with us as much as we value working with them!"

DeVries CPAs of Arizona, P.C., is guided by the central principle of making a difference through what the firm does. They have built their practice around serving the needs of the nonprofit community in Tucson and Phoenix, as well as throughout Arizona and the Southwest.

While they operate as a full service CPA firm, the fact that they specialize in auditing and accounting services for over 130 nonprofit organizations enables them to give back to the communities that contribute so much to help children, the elderly and families. They take pride that their expert nonprofit services play a part in fostering the efforts of many outstanding organizations that strive, with their limited resources, to meet the growing needs of Arizona and the Southwest.

More than five thousand Accounting Professionals were contacted regarding the list, and the response was overwhelming. Goldline Research is a list research and publishing company that specializes in investigating the credibility and performance of companies in a variety of professional service industries for selective inclusion in their published The Most Dependable™ lists.
